

The Ph.D. Program in English Language and Literature
Opole University, Poland
Learning Outcomes

(in accordance with the national framework of qualifications)

Symbol	A. Knowledge
K_W01	S/he is familiar with advanced terminology used in the field of humanities.
K_W02	S/he demonstrates an advanced level of knowledge of past and present theoretical approaches and methodologies of linguistics/literary studies.
K_W03	S/he demonstrates an level of knowledge of interrelations of linguistics/literary studies with other disciplines in the field of humanities and arts.
K_W04	S/he is familiar with ethical, legal, and economic conditions of research and with intellectual property rights. S/he possesses an advanced level of knowledge of such conditions and rights with reference to linguistics/literary studies.
K_W05	S/he is familiar with recent developments in contemporary culture and arts, and demonstrates a deepened awareness of recent trends in language and literature.
K_W06	S/he demonstrates an advanced level of knowledge necessary for designing college courses in English language and literature on an undergraduate and graduate level and is familiar with best professional practices in the field of higher education.
Symbol	B. Skills
K_U01	S/he is able to find, acquire, gather and systematize information from a variety of sources.
K_U02	S/he is able to classify, select, verify and convey information acquired from different types of sources.
K_U03	Being familiar with the current state of research, s/he is able to summarize, analyze, interpret appropriate sources, and use them in her/his own research projects in linguistics/literary studies.
K_U04	S/he is able to design, carry out and appropriately support and document her/his own innovative research projects in linguistics/literary studies.
K_U05	S/he is able to present results of her/his own research in various forms (oral and written) using different media, and demonstrating familiarity with academic standards and conventions which govern different types of presentations in the disciplines of linguistics/literary studies.
K-U06	S/he possesses interpersonal and communicative skills that allow for a successful transmission of knowledge to undergraduate and graduate students. S/he can give feedback and evaluate their work in a just and thoughtful manner.
Symbol	C. Social Competencies
K_K01	S/he can work in a productive manner in a research team, assuming a variety of roles and honing her/his research and organizational skills.
K_K02	S/he can participate in research evaluations procedures, both as an objective evaluator and as a person whose work is evaluated.
K_K03	S/he can publicly communicate her/his observations and opinions concerning a variety of issues in a competent, rational, and responsible manner.
K-K04	S/he can actively participate in the life of the academy, shaping its mission and developing its curriculum in the field of English language and literature.